(C) SAMPLE QUESTIONS

Note:

A sample of questions is being provided for making the candidate aware of the style and different levels of questions which may be asked in such type of management tests. The topics covered here in the sample are not true indication of the syllabus and the test may contain questions from all related areas. This sample is given primarily to help the candidates to understand the pattern of the test.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY

Read the passage given below and answer questions 1-3 on the basis of what is written or implied in the passage.

Passage

Attracting qualified job applicants is only the first step in the process of acquiring new employees. Next the firm must develop techniques for selecting, among these applicants, those to be accepted for employment. Management wishes to avoid hiring the employee who will either quit or turn out to be unqualified. Hiring and training costs are usually substantial. Several hundred rupees can be expended in placing a relatively unskilled employee on the payroll; several thousand rupees or more in the case of a professional or manager. Further, union standards and the expectations of employees and the community can serve to limit management's ability to discharge those who fall below performance standards. In many foreign countries, governments regulations restrict such decisions more severely.
